NewsBank is much more than just an easily accessible collection of newspapers

For example the “Special Reports” section provides dozens of great ideas for classroom and/or homework projects. The reports cover a myriad subjects such as Science and Health, Poetry around the World, Places in the News, Natural Disasters, the Year in Review. The “Hot Topics” section is just what it says and takes students to what’s making the news such as Crime, Sports, the Environment, Technology etc., and the “World Atlas” helps students place the stories that they find. There is only one way to discover what an excellent resource NewsBank is –

Take a FREE TRIAL and see for yourself

- Unlimited access – for students and teachers, both at school and at home
- Search Results – shows the first paragraph of each article, not just the headline – a really useful feature
- Full-text – updated daily, each newspaper includes the full-text of all stories
- Compare – headline priorities, perspectives and writing styles between newspapers
- Easy Searching – search individual newspapers, multiple titles, or the entire collection simultaneously

What some of our subscribers have to say about NewsBank Online Newspapers

"I asked our Head of Economics to comment on this as his 6th form students use NewsBank a great deal. He said "My students have found NewsBank an excellent source of articles for their IB Diploma 'Commentaries'. It is their first port of call and we have always found something appropriate with a little effort. The search facility invariably produces relevant articles on a wide range of topics. It is a cost effective gateway to gain access to articles from a variety of sources." As for myself, I am continually directing students to NewsBank – I have put a link on the Library Intranet page - and I also use it to help resource my teaching."

Jenni Turner, Librarian, King Edward Whitley

"I have had feedback from staff, the main being that they find the whole site very user friendly. A group of them have just realised it is there for them to use."

Jacqui Murphy, Librarian, Barnhill Community School

"What I have seen of it has been impressive. It does away with the need for filing cabinets of old yellowing newspaper clippings and a very laborious task for librarians. The daily newspapers are usually available the day after issue, and the special help with projects such as 'Women's History' are most useful. I gladly endorse your product and would be happy to recommend it to other librarians and school ICT departments."

Joan Hunwick, Librarian, Bury Grammar School (Girls)

"The feedback about NewsBank has all been positive and the resource has proved especially useful in obtaining topical information for assemblies and PSHE (Personal, Social and Health Education) research. We provide a direct link on our Intranet and have used your publicity material around school."

Mrs Ann Montgomery, Librarian, Learning Resource Centre, Bury Grammar School (Boys)

"In Latymer we are trying to embrace e-learning by allowing students better access to resources via our MLE. NewsBank allows are students to access a wealth of articles from a range of sources anytime, anyplace, anywhere. By using a range of sources, writers opinion etc... our students work is well informed and includes a high level of critical analysis of a topic. It is also very user friendly with a very good search engine."

Leon Oxenham, Director of ICT, The Latymer School

"It is a valuable research tool for all our students especially IB students who have been able to extensively use it for their extended essays. A level pupils have used it to find detailed articles about a book they have been studying Atonement by Ian McEwan. The special reports feature for example the World Cup has also been a great idea as I was able to extract relevant reports for a member of staff who wanted to compare reporting techniques with a media class. Having the reports all together saved me time and I could just pick the reports I thought were of most interest and print them out. As the school is soon to be on a campus wide internet system I expect NewsBank to be used much more next year. These are just instances I can remember recently.."
